A quarterly brief on human rights situation in Indian administered Jammu and Kashmir (January to March 2019)

by

and

Association of Parents of Disappeared Persons (APDP)

In the first quarter of 2019, Indian administered Jammu and Kashmir witnessed continued violence and heightened tensions between India and Pakistan, where Kashmir yet again appeared to be the nuclear flashpoint leading to speculations about an impending war. The tensions escalated when a Kashmiri militant rammed his explosive laden car into a bus moving with a Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) convoy on the Jammu – Srinagar highway, leading to the killing of 48 Indian soldiers. India claimed that the attack was sponsored by Pakistan supported militant organization Jaish-e-Muhammed (JeM), which led to the two countries violating each other's air space. In these ensuing attacks, an Indian pilot was captured by Pakistani army and was released after two days by the Pakistan Prime Minister as a gesture of goodwill, which led to de-escalation of the tensions between the two countries.

But the de-escalation did not lead to any decrease in violence against the people of Jammu and Kashmir. The government of India announced Parliamentary elections, followed by the deployment of 100 additional companies in Kashmir. Mass arrests of political and religious leaders and banning of religious and political organizations was carried out, ahead of the elections in India. Interestingly, Election of Commission of India's decision to not announce Assembly Elections in Jammu and Kashmir was based on India's Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) assessment of not possessing 'inadequate security personal' for conducting elections.<sup>1</sup> The admission by MHA proves that elections in Jammu and Kashmir are a military exercise and are only made possible by the massive presence of armed forces on ground.

Killings from January to March 2019

2018 was the deadliest year of the last decade in Indian administered Jammu and Kashmir, with 586 killings recorded in the year. However, the graph of violence significantly increased in 2019. The first three months of 2019 saw at least 162 killings in various incidents of violence in Indian administered Jammu and Kashmir, which include 21 civilians, 58 militants and 83 Indian armed forces personnel.

In comparison to the first three months of 2018, which witnessed 119 killings, the number of killings significantly increased in the first three months of 2019.

For the first time in twenty-nine years of armed conflict, the killing figures (83) of Indian armed forces personnel in Jammu and Kashmir is higher in ratio as compared to the killings of militants.

Killing Figures (January to March 2019)

	Civilians	Militants	Armed Forces	Total Killings
January 2019	02	17	08	27
February 2019	05	22	60	87
March 2019	14	19	15	48
Total Killings	21	58	83	162

Among the 83 Indian armed forces and Jammu Kashmir police personnel killed in Jammu and Kashmir, the highest (65) forces personnel were killed in counter-insurgency related incidents, including in a suicide attack by a Kashmiri militant on a CRPF convoy in Pulwama on 14 February, which resulted in the killing of at least 48 CRPF personnel, while 6 Indian armed personnel were killed at the volatile Line of Control (LOC). 7 armed forces committed suicide, 3 CRPF troopers were killed in a fratricidal incident by a CRPF trooper in Udhampur district of Jammu and 2 Special Police Officers (SPO) of Jammu Kashmir Police were killed by suspected militants.

Among the 21 civilians killed in Jammu and Kashmir in the first three months of 2019, the highest (7) killings were carried out by unidentified gunmen in which 2 killings were suspected to be carried out by militants, while 6 were killed due to shelling at LOC. 3 persons were killed by armed forces and 4 persons died in grenade and IED explosions.

Among the 3 civilians killed by armed forces in the first quarter of 2019, 2 were killed by armed forces following encounters with militants, and one 28-year-old youth was killed due to torture inflicted on him by government forces during his detention at Cargo, an infamous torture center in Srinagar.

Pulwama recorded the highest (8) number of civilian killings in the first quarter of 2019, followed by Poonch (3), Baramulla (2), Kupwara (2), Jammu (2), Anantnag (1), Bandipora (1), Shopian (1) and one non-local person who was killed in an explosion.

The killing of civilians accused of being army informers by armed gunmen points to the ways the unresolved conflict in Jammu and Kashmir is inevitably endangering the lives of the civilian population.

Among the 21 civilian casualties, three were minors including twelve-year-old Atif Mir, who was first held hostage by militants at his house in Hajan Bandipora and later was killed when armed forces blasted the very house where he was held hostage.

Cordon and Search Operations

Despite claims of the Government of India that the ongoing Governor's rule in Jammu and Kashmir has brought down incidents of violence and that militant recruitment has also stopped, the situation on the ground speaks otherwise. In the first quarter of 2019, at least 89 Cordon and Search Operations (CASOs) were conducted in Jammu and Kashmir. A majority of these CASO's were conducted in four south Kashmir districts of Pulwama, Shopian, Anantnag and Kulgam.

The 89 CASO's have resulted in the killing of at least 58 militants, three civilians and destruction of at least 18 civilian properties.

The frequency of CASO's was particularly increased following the militant attack on a CRPF convoy in February.

Destruction of Civilian Property

In the first quarter of 2019, at least 18 cases of destruction of civilian properties were reported in Jammu and Kashmir. Out of the 18 cases, 15 are residential houses and 3 are cowsheds. In all these cases, armed forces, in a direct violation of Geneva Conventions and International Humanitarian Law, used disproportionate force to inflict damage on civilian property, sometimes resulting in the death of civilians as well, as the killing of 12-year-old Atif Mir reveals.

The reported cases of destruction of civilian property by armed forces during encounters with militants in the first quarter of 2019 are listed below:

- On January 5, the house in which the militants were trapped in Aripal village of Tral in south Kashmir's Pulwama district was set on fire by the government forces during an encounter<sup>2</sup>.
- On 23 January, a residential house was partially damaged and people were confined to houses as India and Pakistan traded fire along the line of control in Jammu division's Poonch district. Reports said that in an exchange of firing at Krishna Ghati Sector of Mendhar area in Poonch, a residential house belonging to Mohammad Sharf at Nar Mankote suffered damages.<sup>3</sup>

- On 5 March, media reported that 8 residential houses and 3 cowsheds were damaged in the 56-hour encounter in Babagund village in Handwara in which two militants, five security personnel and a civilian were killed.<sup>4</sup>
- On 25 March, media reported that at least nine structures, including five residential houses belonging to four families, were destroyed during the 12-hour-long fire fight in which two local militants were killed Gadapora village in Shopian district<sup>5</sup>.

Internet Blockades

Internet services continue to be curtailed as part of the ongoing counter insurgency measures by the government in Jammu and Kashmir. In the first quarter of 2019, internet services were suspended 23 times in Jammu & Kashmir and most of these suspensions of data services were reported in South Kashmir.

Recently, the frequency of internet shutdowns in Kashmir were subject of critique of a report 'Of Blackouts and Bandhs: The Strategy and Structure of Disconnected Protest in India'<sup>6</sup> by Stanford University in USA. The report stated, "India has witnessed 134 network shutdowns in 2018, with more than 100 shutdown seen in 2016-17." The report highlighted that Kashmir is most prone to internet shutdowns with the Valley being under a digital curfew for more than 203 days after 2016 unrest following the killing of Hizbul Mujahideen Commander Burhan Wani.

Upsurge in attacks against Kashmiris across India

Following the militant attack on CRFP convoy in Pulwama district of Kashmir on 14 February 2019 – in which at least 48 CRPF men were killed, thousands of Kashmiris living in Indian cities, came under attack of Hindu right-wing mobs and angry Indians.

In the first quarter of 2019, at least 42 incidents of attacks on Kashmiris across India were reported. The reported incidents of violence against Kashmiris in the first quarter of 2019 (42) are significantly higher than the combined incidents of attacks against Kashmiris in India last year in 2018 (22).

As an immediate consequence of the militant attack on CRPF, violence escalated in Jammu city on 15 February after Hindu right-wing mobs attacked Muslim majority areas and Kashmiri Muslims, torched vehicles bearing Kashmir registered number plates, attacked homes of Kashmiris with stones and demanded them to leave Jammu city.

The government enforced a curfew in Jammu city for 6 days yet violent right-wing mobs held protests and processions against the CRPF attack and their ire was directed towards Kashmiri Muslims living in Jammu.

There were attacks on Kashmiris living in Indian cities. Kashmiri students came under attack and many were beaten, threatened and demanded to leave colleges and universities. Some Kashmiri students were also booked for sedition for allegedly posting on social media. The incidents of these hate crimes against Kashmiris have only risen – with even the Governor of Meghalaya (a state in North Eastern India) calling for a social boycott of Kashmiris and Kashmiri products. There was also news of Kashmiri students suspended from colleges.

While calling for revenge against the militant attack on CRPF, A JNU Professor called for “public execution of 40 Kashmiris for 40 soldiers.” The rising attacks against Kashmiris left thousands of Kashmiris living in India and cities like Jammu and Dehradun feeling unsafe and fearing for their lives. Owing to such threats to life, scores of Kashmiri students returned to their homes, which could gravely affect their studies and careers.

The attacks on and persecution of Kashmiris living outside in Indian cities is not uncommon. Kashmiri people are looked at with suspicion and the idea of nationalism is projected by attacking Kashmiris. In 2018, the instances of persecution and harassment of Kashmiris living outside was frequently reported. According to the data compiled by APDP and JKCCS, at least 22 incidents of harassment and persecution of Kashmiris living outside were reported in 2018 in which 24 Kashmiri students were assaulted and 19 were arrested.<sup>7</sup>

Following war-like tensions between India and Pakistan, the government in Jammu and Kashmir also arrested hundreds of political and religious leaders in the valley and NIA conducted raids on prominent Pro-Independence leaders.<sup>8</sup>

Arbitrary and Administrative Detentions

The use of arbitrary and preventive detention to indefinitely detain individuals perceived to be dissenting with the government continued unabated.

In addition to many Hurriyat and pro-Independence activists being detained and put under house arrest throughout these three months, massive arrests of Jamaat-e-Islami (JeI) and Jammu & Kashmir Liberation Front (JKLF) activists took place after the two organizations were banned by the Government of India. Nearly 150 people, mainly from the Jamaat-e-Islami Jammu and Kashmir including its chief Abdul Hamid Fayaz, were detained during the intervening night of 22 and 23 February.

Between January and March, at least 25 people were booked under the Public Safety Act (PSA), including but not limited to many of the prominent activists of JeI, as well as JKLF chief Yasin Malik.
